Ian Simpson

Monday 02 March 2020 at UTMYC Sonning

To the east and south of Great Abaco Island in the Bahamas lies the Sea of Abaco. The Sea is sheltered by a range of reefs and islands on its eastern side separating it from the Atlantic Ocean swell. The Sea provides ideal family friendly cruising grounds for sailors and power boaters alike

Ian, who is currently Commodore of Henley Offshore Group, will talk about his practical experiences chartering and cruising in the area as well as looking more widely at the history of the Bahamas and the attractions they offer as an area to sail.
