

Hi folks,

I'm keeping a close eye on the conditions as they develop. At the moment the winds for Thursday morning are looking to be still a little on the strong side and the sea state could also still be uncomfortable. Please stand by phones and keep monitoring email in case I have to call it off. Maybe it will be better than predicted so I will review again Wednesday evening.

Fingers crossed,

Ian